

Here is how we inspire our students to enjoy today.

Student life at Sant'Anna Institute Sorrento is many things: Active, engaging, full of possibilities. One thing it never is? Boring.

Students here know how to work smart, enjoy the Italian Mediterranean lifestyle and get the most out of their study abroad experience. Italy is known for fashion and design, and so is our student life experience, where we provide support and opportunities with style and grace while encouraging those who desire and to achieve more personally and socially. This is what makes the Sant'Anna Sorrento student life experience truly transformative.

Through the basics that are treated as anything but basic

Places to stay, places to eat and places to play – every institution of higher learning has them, but here, we do it Sant'Anna style!

Our new state-of-the-art on-campus residence hall is anything but a basic dorm. And, our campus provides students with beautiful, quiet, comfortable and casual spaces for doing what they desire - sleeping, cooking, studying or just hanging out with friends.

Whether in the kitchen preparing a new favorite dish just learned at one of our Italian cooking classes, playing soccer on the pitch, reading among the lemon trees, or just relaxing outside on the terrace with stunning views of the Mediterranean Sea, student life here at Sant'Anna is anything but basic.

Get involved!

Going to college is about more than spending long hours studying in the library or sitting in class listening to lectures. It is also about growing as an individual and enhancing your overall perspective of the world.

So, get involved, build your network, make new friends and maybe even meet someone special. Yes, that's right. Given the social events and interaction between students, it is common to make life-long friendships while attending study abroad. This is one of the most fun and talked about parts of going to college in the first place.
